
The offload band reflects the speed of the host PC (the Aer simulation time varies between sessions).

Bars: bracket between two measured n; arrow: offload already faster at the smallest measured n; no bar: no crossover up to the largest measured n.